

A Superhero Christmaths

Batman was helping Santa to deliver Presents on Christmas Eve. It was getting late and Batman was having a little snooze hanging upside down off the bottom of the sleigh. Santa startled him as another long street full of houses came in to view. 'There are 700 houses in this street but we only need to deliver presents to the ones that have a number that essentially looks the same to me as it does to you hanging upside down!' Which house numbers need a delivery?
